Venue
Salesian University Institute of Venice-Mestre – Aula Magna and IUSVE Building

Duration
8.30 AM – 6.45 PM

The International Congress “Global Frontiers in Psychological Research” will feature plenary sessions in the morning and parallel workshops/thematic sessions in the afternoon, offering participants the opportunity to deeply engage with topics of interest. At the same time, speakers will contribute their work and research through oral presentations (a maximum of 20 minutes) and more specialized poster sessions.

This event represents a significant academic and professional milestone, aiming to define future directions in psychological research while promoting effective integration between theory, practice, and technological innovation in the field. It is a unique initiative among the events previously organized by the IUSVE Department of Psychology.

On the one hand, the main objective is to explore and discuss emerging trends and current challenges in psychology; on the other hand, the event seeks to serve as a platform for the exchange of innovative ideas and scientific debate among international experts and participants from various academic and professional backgrounds, with the active involvement of students. For the first time, the congress will see university students not only as attendees but also as co-authors of some of the works presented. This marks an important step toward integrating students into high-level clinical and research activities, demonstrating our commitment to providing them with meaningful international training opportunities.

/ OBJECTIVES OF THE CONGRESS

- › Foster Interdisciplinary Dialogue: Facilitate the exchange of knowledge among disciplines interacting with psychology—such as neuroscience, psychotherapy, education, and social sciences—to enhance understanding of complex psychological phenomena.
- › Explore Technological Innovations: Deepen the examination of emerging technologies, such as virtual reality and artificial intelligence, in the treatment of psychological disorders and the enhancement of therapies and wellness practices.
- › Stimulate Research on Emerging Topics: Identify and discuss new trends in psychological research with significant implications for understanding and treating various psychological disorders.
- › Promote International Collaboration: Establish a platform for collaboration among researchers, clinicians, and educators worldwide, encouraging cultural and scientific exchange to address global psychological challenges.
- › Encourage Student Participation: Motivate psychology students and early-career researchers to present their work, providing them with an international stage and the opportunity to receive constructive feedback from field experts.
- › Integrate Theory and Practice: Showcase the effectiveness of psychological theories through empirical studies and practical case applications, emphasizing the importance of evidence-based approaches.
- › Support Continuing Professional Development: Offer learning and professional development opportunities through workshops, seminars, and expert interactions, strengthening competencies necessary to tackle contemporary psychological challenges.
